Last Chance Patriots in Action

The primary has passed, and Matt Rosendale is the candidate elected to face Jon Tester in November. Now is the time for all sensible voters to coalesce around this candidate to dethrone Mr. Tester. Unless the Republicans and Independents work hard to put Rosendale in office, Montana and the U.S. will have another term of Democratic puppet Tester doing the bidding of big money interests and his puppet masters. That would make Governor Bullock, Nancy Pelosi and Chuck Schumer very happy!

We are working hard to bring a notable speaker to Montana in the Fall. Having had both Dinesh D'Souza and Shahram Hadian already this year the bar for good speakers is pretty high! Stay tuned for more news on that front.

Next month the newsletter will feature an article by Linda Sauer telling of her experiences while traveling in England for two weeks in June. You might be surprised to hear that the divisions in Great Britain over things like Brexit, refugees, and, believe it or not, President Trump are as broad and vitriolic as the divisions in the U.S.: families arguing and fighting among themselves, neighborhoods no longer being "neighborly", and downright hateful behavior among the political elite. Doesn't that sound familiar?

Missoula Refugee Update thru June 20 , 2018

There have been 10 additional refugees resettled in Missoula between May 26th and June 20th: all are from the Democratic Republic of Congo. That brings the total number of refugees resettled in Missoula to 182.

In the next month, we will make a strong effort to find out if the IRC has plans to remain in Missoula and whether they are considering opening a second office in Montana. The IRC pocketed a tidy $38,000 this month so it isn't a stretch to think that if they believed that another Montana city would be ready to open its welcoming arms to more refugees, they would happily open up another office. Our bet is on Helena, where the new mayor is excited about the possibility of fulfilling his commitment to further refugee resettlement in Montana. Wilmot Collins has a direct line to the UN and is likely campaigning for Helena to become another "welcoming" city.

The Governors Veto of Senate Bill 97 Will Haunt Us

In an article this week from the Gatestone Institute they reported that our neighbor to the north is experiencing the exact violation of law that Senate Bill 97 sought to prevent. That is the application of foreign law in our Courts. Here is an excerpt from their report.

"In 2015, a unanimous Supreme Court of Canada decision ruled that Saguenay, Quebec's city council could no longer open its meetings with a Catholic prayer stating that in doing so, those meetings infringed on freedom of conscience and religion. The court stated that religious neutrality: "requires that the state neither favor nor hinder any particular belief."

But apparently at Toronto City Hall, what's good for the Catholic goose doesn't apply to the Islamic gender because recently, according to The Quiggan Report, council chambers hosted a religious ceremony celebrating the breaking of the Ramadan fast.

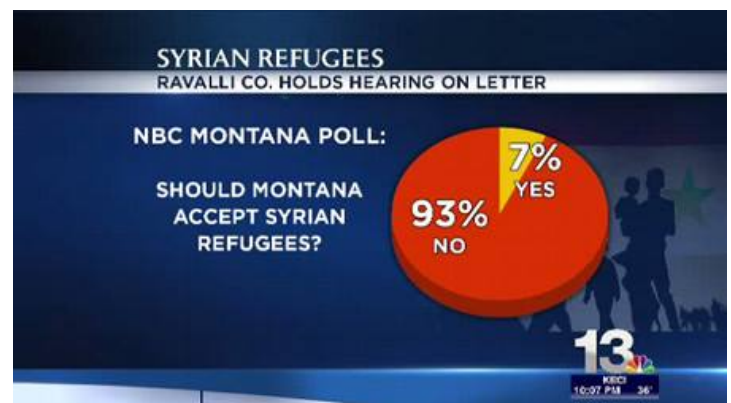

Holding the prayer was the idea of Ward 42 councilor Neethan Shan in conjunction with Toronto Mayor John Tory, and that isn't the only incident that shows there seems to be a double standard applied when it comes to Islam.

The ongoing capitulation we see in Toronto is disturbing and shameful and is aided, abetted and accelerated by Islamic fifth columnists and their liberal allies who appear to be consumed with white guilt.

Increasingly, Toronto City Hall seems dismissive of Canadian law and beholden to Sharia law."

Does that sound familiar. It happens across the US of A, but our great Governor, in his infinite wisdom chose to veto a law passed by both the Montana House and Senate in our last legislative session. According to the Billings Gazette on 4/6/17, this is what he had to say, ""It cannot be seriously denied that the bill is drawn from 'Sharia law bans' that have been tried in other states," Bullock wrote. "The intent of these bills is to target a particular religion and group of people for disfavored treatment." Bullock said he was disturbed that the ban if he had signed it, could have been seen as an "endorsement for anti-Muslim sentiments and activity." He went on to say, "There is absolutely no need for this bill," Bullock wrote in his veto message, adding that the proposal could add to the "nationwide surge in hate crimes."

Gov. Steve Bullock vetoed a bill that would have banned Sharia and other foreign laws from being used in Montana courts, saying Thursday that the measure would "upend our legal system and debase what we stand for as Montanans and Americans." According to an NBC Poll, 93% of Montanans didn't agree. As the Governor entertains fantasies of becoming President, he hangs Montanans out to dry. Who do he and his blood brother Big Jon represent? Not Montana.

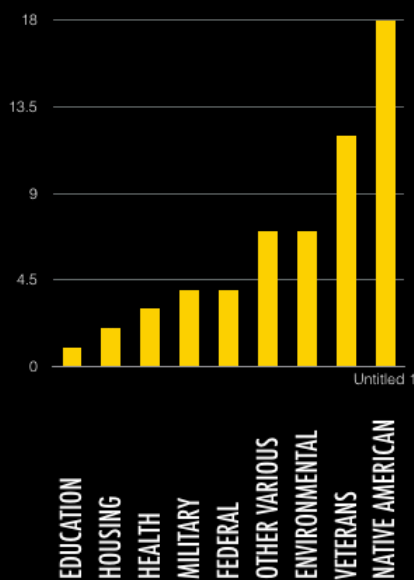

The Biggest Gator in Montana's Swamps' Gotta' Go - 2

Montana news media is already rolling out polls (think the polls leading up to Trump's election) that proclaim Big Jons lead and inevitable victory over challenger Matt Rosendale. Below is the second installment of Big Jon in action. From his original and questionable election in 06 until April 1 in 2018 he sponsored a total of 58 Senate Bills. Interestingly, but not surprising is the fact that while Native Americans make up just 7% of Montanans, and that is rounding up, Senator Tester sponsored a total of 18 Bills in support of Montana tribes. That represents 32% of all of the Bills he sponsored. No bias there, right? His second most active Bill sponsorship is for Veterans. Veterans in Montana represent 9% of our populations, rounded up, and Big Jon sponsored 12 Bills in support of Veterans.

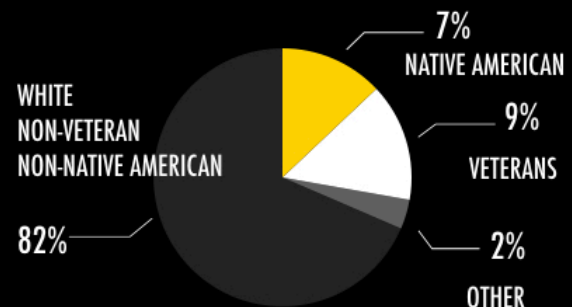

Still, think Big Jons interests are with 'Montanans'? Or just maybe his interests are 'special' to those who will reelect him. In the Bill line up environmental bills comes in third and of course, that's popular in the Big Sky. Our Big Gator needs to go, and the upcoming election is our chance to make a difference in clearing Montana's swamp.

It's Not About the Kids just as it Wasn't About the Guns

The Left is very adept at seizing the latest crisis to push their current agenda, Dump Trump. The idea originated with Saul Alinsky, then it was popularized by of Chicago Mayor, Rahm Emanuel, who said, "You never want a severe crisis go to waste. He is quoted to have said that while serving as Obama's Chief of Staff.

The troubling thing is, conservative Americans never learn from the past. Why are we surprised by the current 'crisis' of 'saving the children' at our southern border? The media in all their glory spring to seize the moment to do their part in the coup we now know is 'Dump Trump.' Time magazine displays a front cover of a little girl staring at Trump and portrays she is orphaned because of him. Only later do we find out the girl isn't an orphan or an illegal immigrant at all.

Only a few months back kids were suddenly 'empowered' Massive marches took place across the country demanding our guns. It was Trump's fault. It wasn't long before that we had the 'crisis' of monuments. The monument crisis occurred 'spontaneously' when someone on the Left was suddenly offended passing by a statue they've been driving by for decades. It is similar to the outrage that 'erupts' when the police defend themselves, killing a criminal who happens to be black and suddenly the town is burned down because of the 'injustice.'

Something to consider seriously is the fact that for each and every one of these 'crisis' there is a Montana connection that comes to life like wildflowers in the spring. We recently had protests on the awful immigration policies, policies put in place by Democrats by the way, across Montana. Are their illegal immigrants here in Montana? Just last month ICE arrested 16 right here in the Treasure State.

We don't want to forget the Women's March in our cities, and who could forget the Helena City Council, without a recorded vote, ordering the removal of a Confederate monument in the Capital city because the Native American Caucus, all five of them, appealed to them to remove that offending monument. And they did so in the dark of night. The only thing we've escaped is the destruction of our cities by those offended by the police doing their job.

So is President Trump the problem? He and our Border Patrol are merely enforcing the law. Then-Senator Barack Obama said in 2005 ""We simply cannot allow people to pour into the United States undetected, undocumented, unchecked, and circumventing the line of people who are waiting patiently, diligently, and lawfully to become immigrants in this country." Outrage at that statement, zero. And what about the idolized President William Jefferson Clinton when he made the statement in the box above.

When do we wake from our slumber? What has to happen before we understand that life is never going to be like it once was if we don't get out of our comfort zones and do something. Last month we mentioned we are at war as a nation. Well, we are at war right here in Montana, and we are losing.

Tidbits from Around the Last Best Place

Helena Mayor Wilmot Collins Making the

Rounds: Comedy Centrals, The Daily Show featured the Mayor as well as previously featuring a spoof on a ProGun Rally there. The Helena Independent Record felt the need to correct the record and point out that the predominantly white capital city voted 63% for Hillary Clinton and only 37% for President Trump. Mayor Collins was also featured in a pro-refugee event in Billings and even made a recent appearance at an event in the Peoples Republic. Heads up, Montana, there are more refugees in our future.

Big Jon Update: The Helena Independent recently used the headline, "Tester Claims Credit for New VA Bill." Of course, he does, he has one of the best PR teams in politics. Heres a question, if he's done so much for the VA why does it still fail miserably. He supported all the 'new' heads of the VA. Doesn't that make him accountable for the results they didn't get? As ranking member of the committee shouldn't he be responsible for the failures that keep piling up? Apparently, Montana media doesn't think so.

Peoples Republic Update: Sure hope Missoulia's keep working hard. They're about to get tax increases that will soon rival the Bay area in Northern California. Mayor Engen and his minions (Jesse Ramos is the only sane one) are spending like they have it. They recently agreed to add a 15 million dollar 'open space' perpetual Bond to the November Ballot. In other news, Missoula Parks and Rec seeks a 7.5% budget increase supported of course by the Mayor, who by the way, still refuses to release the actual legal bills the city ran up driving the local water company out of business. Elsewhere in Utopia the Mountain Line, the local transit network is adding routes, days and wants electric buses. Money, money everywhere, more refugees arriving and their streets remain third world.

Montana and Immigration: The state saw rallies in all the usual places like the People Republic, Helena, Bozeman and Billings supporting the right of illegal immigrants. According to our news media here under the Big Sky, Montanans love immigrants and refugees. They even think the coolest thing ever is a refugee Mayor in our Capital City. Whats harder to understand is the disdain and outright hatred they have for people, in fairness, Republican people, who move into our great state and run for office. Maryland Matt Rosendale and Jersey Greg Gianforte are vilified for being 'not Montana enough.' What happened to all that love? Greg Gianforte brought a business, jobs and has paid more taxes to the state than Governor Bullock and Big Jon combined. We're hopeful that this election, each of you reading this newsletter will do all in your power to bring sanity back to our state and get rid of our well-supported Leftists.

TRIBE SHUTS OFF WATER

Who out there thinks the CSKT water compact that was ramrodded down local Lake Country residents throats is not a problem? Think again.

Next door Chiloquin, Washington the residents there would beg to differ. As reported by This is Our West, "As of last Monday, residents in Chiloquin cannot use city water for anything other than human consumption following a call on water by the Klamath Tribes.

Due to the cancelation of the Upper Klamath Basin Comprehensive Agreement last year, the city's [sic] well is now included in tribal calls on water, subjecting the city to shutoff notices issued by the Oregon Water Resources Department (OWRD). The Tribes, as the senior water right holder in the Klamath Basin, made a call on water March 8 due to low water levels after an unusually dry winter. Severe drought conditions are forecast for this summer, and many water users are concerned about the impact of the Tribes' call."

How does that feel? It is pretty sad when our own government sells out the majority for the small minority and call it fair. Open your eyes, folks.

CLIMATE SHOCK

Our planet has just experienced the most extreme two-year cooling event in a century. But where have you seen this reported anywhere in the mainstream media?

You haven't, even though the figures are pretty spectacular. As Aaron Brown reports here at Real Clear Markets: As published in Technocracy News, "From February 2016 to February 2018 (the latest month available) global average temperatures dropped 0.56°C.

You have to go back to 1982-84 for the next biggest two-year drop, 0.47°C—also during the global warming era. This is the standard source used in most journalistic reporting of global average temperatures."

Read the article and access data here: <https://www.technocracy.news/climate-shock-greatest-two-year-cooling-event-in-a-century/>

TN Editor Note: Global warming alarmist 'believers' in global elite circles will ignore this report because it doesn't fit their agenda, which is to drive people into Sustainable Development. Without this alarm, there is no rationalization to lock up property and resources.

THEY'RE COMING

The Muslim Public Affairs Council (MPAC) and the Islamic Scholarship Fund (ISF) have teamed up to create the Congressional Leadership Development Program (CLDP) that creates tomorrow's American Muslim leaders and fosters pride in government service. Simply put, we're cultivating the next Mayors, City Councilors, Members of Congress, and other leaders.

UM FREE SPEECH ZONES

Leave it to the Peoples Republics University. They recently received mention in a Washington Examiner article entitled, "Code Yellow: University of Montana Limits Idea Sharing to Zones on Campus." That's right, right under the Big Sky; we have a state university limiting free speech. They just hired a new six-figure VP to stem the tide of dropping enrollment. The only surprise is that the higher educated are surprised?

SUPPORTER SPOTLIGHT

We should all be learning every day. There is no better place than Jim White's new Critical Disclosure website and Podcast. Jim said, "After doing hundreds of radio shows and interviewing hundreds of guests, I decided last year to 'hang up my microphone.'" Sadly, it appears that certain personalities in alternative media have been compromised and are propagating a narrative that appears to originate from the dark side. For that reason, I felt the need to once again lend my voice to the cause of liberty and to play my very small part in raising a standard against evil and corruption. I appreciate your prayers and support". Go to his website at <http://criticaldisclosure.com>
